

Centennial administrator to receive OCASA Volunteer Recognition Award

Dr. Rahim Karim, Dean, School of Community and Health Studies at Centennial College, will receive the 2016 OCASA Volunteer Recognition Award at the OCASA Leaders & Innovators Conference June 27 in King City.

The award is given annually to recognize the dedication of volunteers working on OCASA's behalf at their local college or provincially.

Dr. Rahim, as OCASA representative, is co-chair on the provincial Administrative Staff Insured Benefits Sub-Committee; chairs a fundraising campaign at Centennial; is a member of the Advisory Council, Education and Culture for Public Services Health and Safety Association; and serves as an internal member of the Board of Governors of Centennial College.

Also to be recognized at the OCASA Conference will be Gail Murdock of Confederation College, who will receive the Doug Light Lifetime Achievement Award.

Michelle Giroux of Fanshawe College will be presented with the 2016 Emerging Leader Award.

Other nominees for the Emerging Leader Award this year included:

- Frédéric Boulanger, Regional Manager (Windsor) at Collège Boréal
- Katie Burrows, Acting Registrar at Mohawk College
- And Sara Munroe, Director, Technology and Learning Innovation at Northern College
- Erica Shaw, Creative Studio Production Manager at Sheridan College
